TOWN CONTINUES CIVIC ACTIVITIES

Continued improvements and increased activity by residents is noted in the town of Belle Glade, despite the declining vegetable season and vacation preparations of many families.
This week has been proclaimed by Mayor Walter Greer as "Clean-Up Week" and citizens are busy setting their premises in first-class shape. Weeds are being cut, flowers planted and a general freshening up taking place. The first part of the week, up to yesterday, was given over to individual effort, when residents put their own places to rights, and the latter part of the week is being spent in cleaning up public premises. Waste timber and other debris will be collected and disposed of by burning or burning.
New buildings are being planned, some in connection with construction and some have recently been completed.
Walter Greer has completed a new filling station which has been rented and will be opened soon.

The garage of Elliott-Robinson, Inc., situated on the west side of the new canal, is now under construction. The concrete floor is set to be poured and considerable plastering remains to be done.
Gene Heasley is building a house which will be used by his brother, L. E. Wells of the Pioneer Inn and Pioneer Filling Station, in the town of Belle Glade. The new building is 3248-foot two-story building moved back six feet from the sidewalk, being done to give more room around the gasoline pump.
Probably the largest building now planned for erection is the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, which will be located on a street running east of the main street in the south part of town, will be 30x40 feet and the exterior will be finished with stucco. The floor will be of oak and Dr. E. C. Brown, the contractor, says that it will be the best place in the territory. The house will be 12 feet high which will tend for coolness in the summer weather. Ivan L. Smith will foremanize the job and members of the American Legion will be in charge. Lumber has been shipped and actual construction will start at the end of the week.

The legion is preparing for a celebration and jamboree on the 4th of July when the building is to be completed. Details of plans will be given as the date approaches.

Plans for the erection of a building for the Kluge Seed Company at Belle Glade are given in this issue of the paper.

Filling in of a vacant lot in the First and Second streets has been finished by town forces and plans for the building will be started when suitable arrangements can be made for the work.

Satisfactory progress is being made on the new tourist camp started last week.

Other construction work is planned but announcement at this time would be premature.

MANY USEFUL PLANTS HAVE BEEN BROUGHT FROM OTHER LANDS

GAINEVILLE, Fla.—The importance of many plants, which have been brought to this country, was made clear to radio listeners last week when C. E. Kallman, associate agronomist of the Florida office of the Department of Agriculture, spoke over WFLA on "Useful Plants From Foreign Lands."

For the past two years Mr. Kallman has been stationed at the Florida Experiment Station by the Department, and his work is carried on in cooperation with the station.

Several years past an anti-insect garden has been maintained at the station by the agronomy department and many interesting plants from all over the tropical countries of the world have been grown for observation.

It will be recalled that Cozartville, the legume which is now to be seen as a successful summer cover crop for citrus groves in the deep sandy soils of the ridge and sand areas, was introduced in just this way. This crop was brought to Florida in 1909 by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Experiment Station.

Many of the most common everyday plants which give color and interest every day are now being brought to this country, the speaker said. These include the clovers, alfalfa, velvet beans, cowpeas, Sesame, Kentucky Blue grass, red top, ryegrass, Bermuda grass and lespedeza. "Even such an everyday body known as a native of the new world, is supposed to have originated in the introduction garden at the Experiment Station there were more than 500 different species and varieties growing last year," Mr. Kallman stated. Included in the list are several varieties of grasses brought from Central and South America, and last fall by Mr. Kallman of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The editor of The News is under the impression that there is a good possibility that the Mediterranean fruit fly will not propagate in the black muck of the Everglades. The strong chemicals in this soil, we understand, will not permit the fly to breed and hence flies from breeding in it. Possible the same chemicals will kill the fruit fly maggots.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Gardner spent several days here last week looking after their property interests and left Saturday for California where they will attend the wedding of Mrs. Gardner's sister. While here Mr. Gardner purchased the lot west of the Harding Hotel, which he owns, and a parking place and flower garden will be made of the lot.

NATIONAL EGG WEEK WAS BIG SUCCESS

National Egg Week, which was held May 1 to 7, sponsored by the United poultry industry of the United States was a huge success. This is the third consecutive year that the poultry industry has united to say homage to the American hen and to call freely to the attention of the American public the peculiar food values of eggs in our daily diet.

The outstanding accomplishment of the year was the fact that this year an active and vigorous campaign was carried on to educate the public as to the value of eggs in our daily diet.

The poultry industry is indebted to the interest shown in the celebration by county and home demonstration agents throughout the United States. These leaders through their local groups and demonstrations, arranged shows, contests and carried on a most unique and interesting series of work of an educational nature which helped to sell the egg idea to the American public.

Rapid Way To Pile Up Winning Votes

"Second Payments" are the extension subscriptions already given through the campaign. "Third Payments" and so on are handled under the same rules. Important things to remember about "Second Payments" are:

(1). Any Contestant in the campaign—not necessarily the one turning in the original subscription ("first payment") can turn in a "Second Payment" on any subscription and receive credit therefor.
Thus, the "Second Payment" plan not only gives contestants a great opportunity of now securing further valuable support from the people who have already given them subscriptions, but it also permits men and women to support their real favorite in the campaign even though they may have earlier given a subscription to someone else.

(2). The words "Second Payment" must be plainly marked on the Subscription Receipt. Compliance with this rule is absolutely necessary in order to secure the benefits occurring to "Second Payments."

Don't be Late Saturday Night

If you are going to turn in your subscriptions at the Campaign headquarters be inside The News office before the closing hour and you will be waited on, but no late-comers will be admitted. Absolutely the box taken up at 9 P. M.

Help a Worker WIN

Some of the contestants are saying: "I feel sure that I can win if those who promised me subscriptions will just keep their promises." Several of the leaders have almost an equal opportunity to win. Will you let a friend fail to enjoy the pleasure of owning the new Ford just because you did not give her the promised support? Just one subscription may determine the result. Just two more days and the campaign closes. Now is the time for you to rally to the support of some contestant who has been working so hard to win.

Final Extra Bonus Offer

Here it is. Read it carefully: When the ballot box is opened at 9 P. M. Saturday, June 1st, to the contestant who has the largest amount of money to her credit from May 27 through June 1st will be given:
